

May God bless the hands of the one that opened this leaflet, illuminate the eyes of those who read it, and fill with love and blessings whoever shares it.

We would like to start up a 80+ Happy Birthday corner.

If you would like to include yourself or anyone else in this, (with his/her permission of course), please get in touch, with name and date of birth. We will be delighted to celebrate this annual milestone by including the name and age, in the appropriate month!

Kevin's Place to Pray.....

Llaingoch, the village that lies at the foot of the mountain. A place which has its own sense of identity, with its own hall, school, and of course show (see picture)

Many members of St Cybi live in or near the village, and the absence of St Seiriol's is still keenly felt. Pray for the peace of this village

PLEASE NOTIFY US OF ANY LONG TERM ILLNESS WITHIN THE CHURCHES: AS WELL AS ANY MOVEMENTS INTO CARE / NURSING HOMES.

Our pastoral visiting team will be happy to include you, either for a visit or for a short celebration of Holy Communion: whether you are still in your own home, or have moved into a care / nursing home.

Saints Days November 2015

01: All Saints Day

The celebration of the feast of All Saints began in the 4th century, and has been observed in England, Wales and Ireland since the 9th century.

02: All Souls Day

In Christ, all the faithful, both the living and the departed, are bound together in a communion of prayer

04: Gwenfaen

Gwenfaen was the daughter of Pawl Hen of Manaw (Isle of Man), who made her cloister in Rhoscolyn. Legend has it that Gwenfaen, was chased away from her cell by druids and escaped by climbing the rock stack off Rhoscolyn head. The tide came in and she was carried away by angels, which is how Saints Bay got its name. The water of St Gwenfaen's Well, is credited with curing mental problems, in return for an offering of two white quartz pebbles.

05: Cybi

Cybi was born in Cornwall about 485 AD. He studied extensively and after some years spent as a travelling pilgrim, he eventually came to Wales to visit his cousin David. He established his principal monastery at Caergybi. Folk tradition tells that he regularly travelled to Clorach in the centre of Anglesey to meet his great friend Seiriol, whose monastery was at Penmon. Cybi was a forthright fiery character who died in Holyhead, and is believed to have been buried near Eglwys y Bedd, in the grounds of the church which takes his name.

30: Andrew the apostle

Although Andrew is named as an apostle by Matthew, Mark and Luke, it is from John that we learn most about him. He was a Galilean fisherman who was mending his nets, when Jesus called him to be his follower. He travelled widely as a missionary and was finally crucified on an X-shaped cross. Legend tells that as his relics had originally been brought to Scotland, in the eighth century he became its patron saint. His white X-shaped cross on a blue background is the Scottish national flag – the saltire.
